Presenter Bio

Join Nicole B for a creative, hands-on flower pressing workshop designed especially for children. Nicole is a community worker and art therapist with extensive experience teaching craft classes to both children and adults. With her warm, encouraging approach and background working in schools, she creates a welcoming space where young participants can explore their creativity and enjoy making something truly personal.

Presentation Precs

During the session, children will use beautifully pressed flowers to create their own decorative artwork to take home. Nicole will also demonstrate how flowers are dried and pressed, giving children a glimpse into the process behind this timeless craft. It's a fun, calming and inspiring activity that combines nature, art and imagination.
